

ABSTRACT

A speaker grille disposed in front of a speaker having a diaphragm and reproducing the sounds of 1 kHz and higher. The speaker grille is provided with a sound opening which includes a line that opposes to a region extending from the edge portion of a diaphragm to the fixing portion on the outer 5 circumference of the diaphragm of speaker. The speaker grille offers superior sound characteristics, at the same time a sufficient mechanical strength either.